Seymour Positively Declines

CHICAGO Dec [illegible] In a special [illegible] interview with Seymour [illegible] reporter [illegible] him if he would accept [illegible] nomination for president [illegible] necessary for [illegible] He said "As for myself I do not think there is any general disposition to nominate me [illegible] think it wise to do so for various reasons [illegible] should not be a candidate [illegible] have said to [illegible] addresses upon political [illegible] would of itself be a good reason why I [illegible] not be elected even if nominated While my name was spoken of I don't consider any thing more than one of the speculations of the day, in time of political uncertainty In the face of what I have said it is absurd to suppose I shall be nominated I have no idea that I shall be nominated by any convention for president I should be guilty of self complacency which would be ridiculous if I thought a great party were anxious to make me their candidate against my wishes Even in that impossible event I should do my friends a very great wrong if I should go on a ticket with the knowledge that I was the wrong man in the position"

What a Fire Insurance Policy Covers.

[From the Philadelphia Insurance Reporter]

Fire insurance policies do not include in their indemnity among other things the following Fences and other yard fixtures also store furniture and fixtures and plate glass doors and windows when the plates are of the dimensions of three feet or more It is important that this fact be mentioned in the wording of the policy if such articles are to be included under the policy Careless, ignorant and unsophisticated brokers and agents very frequently make mistakes in this respect

The following articles also are not included in the security of a fire insurance policy, unless mentioned, viz jewelry, plate, watches musical instruments, ornaments, curiosities, patterns, printed music, printed books engravings paintings picture frames, sculpture, casts and models, money or bullion bills, notes, accounts deeds, evidences of debt or securities These should always be specified

If a building falls no insurance will attach or cover its loss, unless it is caused by fire Stolen property is not to be paid for by the insurance company Losses from explosions are not to be paid unless fire ensues, and then only the actual fire loss is to be settled for Property standing on leased ground must be so represented to the company and expressed in the policy Goods on storage must be represented as such

The assured in case of fire, must invariably do his best to save it and carelessness in this respect will vitiate his claim In no instance shall he abandon his premises to firemen or thieves Where a party has a trustworthy and intelligent representative agent or broker whose business it is to study these points and consult his own and the assured's interests by so doing it is sometimes safer than to risk it by attending to the insurance himself

Cooling Worlds.

(From the Utica Herald)

Professor Proctor computes that it took the earth 350 000 000 years to cool from its molten condition at formation to 200 degrees centigrade and that that period elapsed about 150 000 000 years ago The earth is therefore 500 000 000 years old The cooling process is going on all the time and 1 000 000 000 years from this date there will be no Morning Herald for the earth will then have reached extreme old age and have no life in it Jupiter being all times as large as the earth will then lack 50 000 000 years of reaching our present condition But though Jupiter has such a seemingly long term before it what shall be said of the sun whose [illegible] times that of the earth [illegible] when the earth will [illegible] [illegible]

MAKING WAY FOR BLAINE

[Washington Cor Philadelphia Times]

[illegible] the latest sensation here is [illegible] that General Grant will certainly be out of the presidential race within thirty days [illegible] the story that [illegible] of the [illegible] that Grant will take his place [illegible] There is certainly [illegible] [illegible] recently that General Grant would [illegible] [illegible] James F Wilson [illegible] who was [illegible] Grant [illegible] knows that General Grant will not [illegible] through a contest that he does not want the place and that if he were nominated with any degree of unanimity he would feel obliged to accept None can deny that there will be a contest in the next republican convention Blaine's and Sherman's friends respectively are not going to let General Grant or anybody else walk off with the presidential nomination without a contest The friends of both will go into the convention for the purpose of kicking up a row to drive Grant out Mr Wilson says that Grant will have friends in the convention who will be severally instructed to withdraw his name in the event of a row and that they will follow the instructions This much must be said of Grant he has not sought the office Even his closest friends can get nothing out of him with reference to the subject more than the fact that he is not a candidate and does not think of it With Grant out of the field what is left? Why, Blaine of course Blaine is strong for he is the first choice of all those who supported him at Cincinnati and he is the second choice of all the Grant men and all the Sherman men Of course Grant would rather have Conkling but then Conkling is out of the question and even a heavy man like Grant can see that Grant and Blaine have never been particularly friendly in their social intercourse, Blaine disliked Grant and Grant suspected Blaine It may be different now, for Grant has forgiven everybody but Bristow, and Blaine is a man who cannot treasure animosities—notwithstanding his attitude toward Conkling with whom he has not passed a word for over thirteen years It would not surprise me at all—indeed I rather look forward to it—if Grant should keep out of the convention that Blaine should be nominated It will certainly be Blaine or a dark horse It cannot be Sherman, Conkling or Washburne and nobody else has been suggested of consequence thus far

Grant Talk in Washington.

[General H V Boynton's Letter to the Cincinnati Gazette]

There are among the very warmest friends of General Grant quite a number who are strongly opposed to his accepting the nomination They say with force and truth that General Grant now stands on a height never before attained by an American His military success is without a parallel in our history His military command ranked with that of the great captains of modern times He has twice occupied the presidential chair, and his administration on account of the period it covered and the events with which it had to deal will occupy the most notable place in our history He has been received around the world with honors never before bestowed upon a private citizen Upon his return to this country he is everywhere recognized as its most prominent and honored citizen With this general statement of his present position these friends go on to say that another term in the presidency even if it could be certainly obtained cannot increase, and may diminish these honors. Many of them feel that if the old crowd should succeed in restoring themselves as they fully expect to do in case Grant is nominated and elected, another term would detract largely from what is secure in the past and thus prove a disaster which every true friend of the general would deeply deplore They are cool-headed enough to see that the electoral vote is so evenly balanced now that nomination is by no means equivalent to election for any republican candidate There are many republicans friends of other candidates who feel that the time has fully come for the general to cause it to be clearly understood whether he desires a renomination or not They think this due to the party, to others who may become candidates in case he is not as well as to his own reputation for fair and open dealing They feel, and say, that there is no longer any force in the suggestion that Gen Grant must await a proper opportunity to speak, that he cannot, as yet, assume to accept or reject that which he has not yet been offered. The case has certainly passed quite beyond that stage, and to hold to that position longer is regarded by many as of doubtful propriety, since it is calculated to create the impression that he regards himself as having acquired a pre emption right to the nomination, which excludes all others, unless he sees fit to abandon his title It is not strange that the friends of other candidates should feel so, and this feeling is already shared by a large body of republicans who believe in fair play for all, and open dealing with all.

A Dinner Depending

[Detroit Free Press]

Just after dinner, Tuesday a boy hidden away under an old hat was walking down Brush street, when all of a sudden he halted, looked through the pickets of a fence, and called out

"Say you—are you Jim?"

A boy in the yard about his own size let drop the ox handle, walked forward and replied

"Of course its me."

"An' you've been splittin' wood?"

"Yes"

"Actually splittin' wood"

"Yes"

"Waal by gum! That takes my breath away! Why Jim is some o' your folks dead?"

"Noap"

"Hain't nuthin' tall happened?"

Jim looked up and down the street, back at the house and then softly said

"The family's sort o' layin' for the old man"

"How? Goin' to pizen him?"

"Yer see if he's all right we'll have oysters stuffed with chickens on Thanksgiving and I'll have a chance to eat mince pie till I bust If he isn't all right we'll have pudding stuffed with milk [illegible] show for a luck [illegible]"

ELLENSBURG NOTES.

ELLENSBURG Dec 7 1879

Ellensburg has had her share of interesting incidents during the past six months

The Alex Duncan, which was beached here some time since after being repaired will take about 4000 cases of canned salmon besides several tons of other freight She will also take from Ellensburg fourteen cabin passengers and thirty Chinamen

The schooner Esther Cobos purchased by Capt Carroll, has been removed from the beach and is now undergoing repairs

Mr Thompson is now superintendent of Mr Hume's business in Ellensburg The business is prosperous and the men are working nine and a quarter hours per day

Mr George H George, former superintendent of R D Hume & Co of Ellensburg is at present engaged in mining some distance up Rogue river

Our district school opened Dec 2d under the management of J B Tichnor, and promises to be a very profitable session under such able hands

Our school matters of late have been sadly neglected For the past three years we have been without a schoolhouse

Ellensburg is the only county seat in the United States that is without a school house

Visit of the Whisky Ringster to Grant

[Nokomis (Ill) Telegram 24th]

Gen John McDonald, of whisky ring fame and wife are living here in seclusion and rumor has it that they will make Nokomis their home this winter The mother of "Sylph" resides here in a house the general purchased for her some time ago The story of the visit of McDonald to Gen Grant at Chicago is told here in detail It is to the effect that McDonald insisted on seeing Grant and upon being shown into the room advanced with outstretched hand in his impulsive style Grant gave no sign of recognition beyond a stolid look, and did not take the proffered hand. The caller exclaimed with some surprise "I am Johnnie McDonald Don't you know me?" Grant replied "No, sir, I don't know you and don't want to know you" McDonald is engaged upon some literary work, said to be a lecture on the whisky ring with a good deal of politics thrown in

The Ohio Germans and Grant.

[From the Cleveland Herald (Rep)]

Editor Richard Smith of the Cincinnati Gazette said very truly that the republicans cannot carry Ohio with the German vote against them and he accurately also represented the German sentiment in this state as expressed in recent interviews when he said that it was not favorable to Grant This, of course amounts to saying that Gen Grant could not at the present moment carry Ohio and if he could not carry Ohio he would certainly fare badly in the more doubtful states of the north Perhaps a few more months of the confederate congress may materially change matters but Mr Smith gave the Tribune interviewer a very accurate statement of the situation as it is to day

Southern Oregon

The bridge built across Elk creek Jackson county last year at a cost of over $000 was swept away by the high waters of week before last The loss is quite a severe one especially to the residents of Flounce Rock are[illegible] who will find it next thing to impossible to cross that stream during the winter

The miners of Josephine county have plenty of water and anticipate a remunerative run this season

The Daily Oregonian

TUESDAY MORNING, DEC. 23, 1879

THE WORK OF TWENTY YEARS.

It was twenty years the beginning of the present month when John Brown of Osawatomie was hanged at Charlestown, Va. No one had dreamed what the succeeding twenty years would bring forth in universal liberty. John Brown, in his insanest moments of sanguine expectation, could not have anticipated the events that were to follow so soon on his execution. He imbibed the spirit of liberty by noticing the treatment of a slave boy in early youth, and the germ then sown grew to be the desire of his life. He was born in Connecticut in 1800, emigrated to Kansas in 1855, where he became an anti slavery leader and was known over the whole country as such. In Kansas one of his sons was killed by Border Ruffians, as the pro-slavery party was then called. In May, 1859, he organized an invasion into Virginia, the avowed purpose of which was the liberation of the slaves. On Oct. 20, of the same year, aided by about twenty followers, he took possession of the arsenal and armory at Harper's ferry. He succeeded in taking 40 prisoners and was not captured until nearly all of his party were killed, among whom were his two sons, and himself severely wounded. He was tried for treason and murder and hanged on the second day of Dec., 1859. Such is the brief story of the adventurous and eventful life and tragic death of John Brown, who faced the inevitable with a resignation truly divine. He is popularly believed to have been a monomaniac on the subject of universal liberty, but subsequent events seem to prove him to be one of those hardy pioneers of social and political reform whose presence is needed to stir up latent sympathies and principles. Following the emancipation of our slavery, Russia liberated her twenty-two million serfs, and the plan of her emancipation is gradually but surely working itself to a consummation. Human slavery has been suppressed on the high seas by every civilized nation. Several South American governments have placed themselves on the side of liberty, and said to their slaves be as God created you—freemen. Spain is at this time discussing the abolition of slavery in Cuba, and the completion of the work is but a question of time. The impetus given by John Brown to the movement of freedom in his "insane" freak will continue, and the bondage of human beings will be a thing of the past among civilized nations of the world. Let the work continue, and let the millions of enfreedomed serfs and slaves bless the name of that hardy pioneer, John Brown.

SUFFRAGE AND REPRESENTATION.

Gen. Walker, superintendent of the census, is being urged to collect statistics next year of the number of persons excluded from the exercise of the right of suffrage by restrictions which should lessen the representation of those states pursuant to the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution. The amendment was in force long prior to the last census, but no statistics of the kind were collected at that time. The Springfield Republican says: If the facts had been gathered on this point in the census of 1870, they would have deprived New England of "probably one and possibly two representatives, and consequently of the electoral college by reason of the restrictions existing in Rhode Island and Massachusetts. There are also abundant reasons to induce the superintendent to have the facts on this point collected in other parts of the country than New England. The provision of the Fourteenth amendment regulating the matter provides that when the right to vote is denied to any male inhabitant of any state except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the reduction in the basis of representation shall be made in the proportion that the number of such persons so deprived bears to the whole number of male inhabitants over 21 years of age.

If the census takers were authorized, which they probably will not be, to ascertain and report the number of male inhabitants in the southern states who have been deprived of the right of suffrage by reason of the political arguments, peculiar to some sections of those states, it might retire some of the brigadiers to private life, but it would teach those who use those arguments a very much needed lesson. But those who make the laws of those states realize that technical conformance to the constitution is necessary and therefore none of them by statute violate it. The laws of all of them guarantee the right of suffrage to all the male inhabitants of the required age, but in the face of the vast array of facts which prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that a very large number of the people, have been deprived of the right to vote at every election that has occurred in some of those states for a number of years, the law which guarantees the right, but fails to protect its exercise, is no more than a farce. The census ought to show how many are denied by the law of any state of the right of suffrage, and it ought to show how many are deprived of that right by the methods which the law does not recognize but which the executors of the law fail to correct.

THE CZAR AND THE NIHILISTS.

There seems, according to a correspondent of the London Times, a disposition on the part of the ruler of the land of the nihilists to inaugurate genuine reforms and avoid another war. So far, the system of pacification, says the Times, adopted by the imperial government while direct and vigorous has been in the nature of a palliative rather than a cure. It has included two sorts of treatment, widely different yet identical in that neither has gone to the root of the matter. The traditional policy of severe repression has never been relaxed. The foundation of the empire always has been the army—in which is included the police and police-spy system—and never has this foundation been more firmly relied upon than just now. The government is one of force. It has dealt with the nihilists not by listening to their complaints, but by endeavoring to gag them; it has increased their burdens to the end that they may be crushed into speechlessness. The other line of treatment has been to divert attention from the miseries within the empire by engaging the popular mind in contemplation of great affairs without. To this end, in part, the war with Turkey was waged. For the time being the heroic remedy was a success. In the midst of the doubts of the earlier part of the campaign of the victorious certainties that came later, of the bitter personal grief for dear ones slain in both defeats and victories—mastered by these strong emotions, the Russian people forgot for a time their misfortunes and were reconciled to the evils which they were forced to bear. But when the actual struggle was ended and the excitement died away, all the old feeling returned with renewed force. The nation and the people were poorer for the war. More was needed in the way of taxes, less was available wherewith taxes could be paid. The second line of treatment was even more dangerous than the first. And yet, for the sake of securing immediate relief from internal dissension, there has been manifested a strong disposition on the part of the Russian government once more to plunge the country into a foreign war. It by no means is assured that this half expressed intention will not yet be carried into effect.

It is claimed by those who are interested in the sale of lands in this city lately belonging to the state, upon which comment was made yesterday that the transaction was fair and open in every respect; that the sum paid, $[illegible], was the best offer that the board had ever received for the property, and that if there was any mistake, it was in the undervaluation of the property. We can not see that any blame can attach to the purchaser, as he or any one else is justifiable in buying property at as low a price as possible. We cannot help thinking, however, that the lots were sold nearly or quite $1000 or $1200 below their value in the market at the time of the sale. The state it is true, does not intend to go into the business of renting houses, but it would be well if the officials who have charge of the matter were directed by law to advertise property, especially in case it be of as much value as the lots in question. It is true that all men are supposed to know the law, but all men are not supposed to be able to have access at all times to the state records, and therefore to know just what lands are for sale or those that are not. Had the fact been known that the lots were for sale by the state, we have no doubt that more competition among buyers would have been manifested, in the active state of the market for real estate in Portland at this time.

The folly of the special session has taught the dominant party in congress one thing if it has not served to point out to them the hopelessness of their pet doctrines. It has put the democrats upon their good behavior, although that seems almost impossible, as far as the present session of congress is concerned. Speaker Randall, in a conference with the democratic members of the committee on appropriations, informed them that much would depend on them in reporting the appropriation bills for passage, and that the only hope of the democrats was in the record they might make for themselves at this session, and a brief session was desirable. A short session is predicted, and upon good grounds for the hope that such will be the case, as three of the regular appropriation bills have already passed the house, and the Marshall fee bill to pay the back fees of U. S marshals is ready to be reported, and no doubt would have been put upon its passage had the democrats not understood that the republicans intended to discuss the bill when it came before the house. The democrats, in making this final backward evolution, are as mild as they only can be, and would rather not say anything about the matter. Speaker Randall, in counseling expedition and speed, expressed the sentiment of a large majority of his party. Should the session do nothing but routine and regular business, without attempting any political measures, the issues of the campaign would be as settled by the special session. However the democrats would have the speed of the regular session and the good sense to keep their multifarious and obnoxious opinions on states rights and other subjects from coming to the surface to recommend them to public favor. The republicans are satisfied with the issues as made up and content to give their opponents the benefit of their present gleam of good sense.

A correspondent of the Boston Herald, in an interview with Thurlow Weed on political topics, elicited an anecdote of Gen. Taylor which we do not recollect to have seen in print. "When," Weed said, "California was about to be admitted to the union, the slaveholders' party in congress, as you know, were determined that the state should not have a free state constitution. Then, on the floors of congress, Toombs and Stephens, of Georgia, threatened what really took place in 1861. About that time I called on President Taylor at the White House, and he said to me: 'Did you see those d—d traitors when you came in?' I replied that I had seen some gentlemen, Messrs. Toombs, Stephens and a North Carolina senator. 'Well,' said President Taylor, 'those were the men I meant. But the biggest conspirator of all did not dare come.' I asked who that was, and the president answered, 'My son-in law, Jefferson Davis!'"

The Chicago Legal News says the decision of the supreme court of the United State upon the question of trade marks has been widely misunderstood, and that the court only decided the statutes involved as not within the power of congress to pass, but expressly declares that trade marks are property and protected at common law.

TUESDAY MORNING, DEC [illegible] 1879

CITY.

THE ENTERTAINMENT THIS EVENING.—As heretofore announced the [illegible] Society will give an entertainment at Good Templar Hall this evening. The object is to raise funds to aid colored people of the [illegible] to come to this state to furnish [illegible] desired information and to [illegible] that Immigration and Aid societies usually [illegible]. The object is a truly laudable one [illegible] demonstrates that there is [illegible] fellow feeling for the colored people of the south. The programme, which is a lengthy one, embraces musical and literary exercises, the whole to conclude with a splendid supper. The names of the participants is a sufficient guarantee of the excellence of the entertainment. All are invited to attend, and besides giving to a worthy charity the entertainment will be doubly worth the price of admission, which is [illegible] cents.

REPORTED LOST.—On the 18th ult Mr Harry Coleman, a partner of Colonel Joseph Teal in the stock business, left Eugene to go by the old military road for Prineville, Wasco county. Since that time no word has been heard from him directly or indirectly and fears for his safety are entertained. Colonel Teal sent a messenger to the ranch one day last week to ascertain his whereabouts and nothing had been heard of him at that point. Alarmed by his continued absence a large party of citizens from Prineville started to hunt for him last Saturday. With what success has not been announced.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—James Kelly, of this city, a well known brakeman on one of the through mail trains of the O & C R R, met with a serious accident yesterday morning at [illegible]. He was putting down a brake when the wheel broke, struck him violently in the abdomen and knocked him from the train into the ditch at the side of the track. No bones were broken, but it is believed that he sustained severe internal injuries. He was brought here on the down express train and conveyed to his home on E street, where he is receiving needed attention.

SEVERE FALL.—Yesterday morning an old lady named Lesourd, wife of a millwright, residing on Third street, between Sherman and Carruthers, met with a very severe accident. She was sweeping the snow off the [illegible] when she slipped and being a fleshy woman, fell to the ground with such violence, where she lay unconscious. She was carried inside and revived by the physician in attendance. The spine it is feared is permanently injured, as the sufferer is unable to move and paralysis has set in.

COMMUTATION AND REMISSION.—Gov Thayer yesterday commuted the term of imprisonment of William Burke, a convict in the Oregon penitentiary, to expire on the 10th inst. Burke was convicted of robbery in Clatsop county and sentenced to four years' imprisonment from August 20, 1876. Cause, uniform good conduct and waiving all right to [illegible] money. Patrick Sage has also been granted remission of sentence.

CONTINUED COLDNESS.

Thermometer from 3 to 15 Below Zero at Points up the Columbia—Navigation Suspended above the Cascades

The continued cold, though not at all severe weather of yesterday seems to have awakened Portland [illegible] and sent their blood coursing faster through their veins. As if afraid that the unusual enjoyment afforded by a heavy fall of snow would be fleeting, every one who could stand the [illegible] and possibly some who could not, was out sleighing, and all day [illegible] bells was heard in all parts of town. The arrests by the police and the heavy fines [illegible] with impunity and pleasure seekers were free [illegible] Sunday [illegible] she was [illegible] most glassy surface [illegible]

LATER

At 8:30 last evening Scott reports the thermometer [illegible] degrees below zero. At Celilo it was 1 degree below zero. At Hood River 1 degree below zero. Several other places report below zero.

The steamer Idaho left The Dalles yesterday morning for the Cascades but could not proceed further than Crate's point, as the river at that place was closed with ice. The steamer returned to The Dalles and has gone into winter quarters there.

The Hayward reached the Cascades yesterday without much difficulty, and returned in the afternoon. She will start out again this morning at the usual hour with passengers and mails. If possible she will proceed to the Cascades. It is extremely doubtful about the boat being able to reach her destination.

The down river boats experience no difficulty in reaching Astoria and Portland, but should the present weather continue, the lower Columbia will soon be filled with floating and solid ice.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM.

The Question that Stares Portland Youths in the Face—Interviews on the Question of the Day—Conclusions

It is written and assumed truthfully so that trouble never come single handed. The amative youths of the city of the northwest are at this time in the slough of despond and passing through the straits of tribulation. Their troubles are of a multifarious character, their trials are of gigantic proportions and their wits and subterfuges are called to exert themselves [illegible]. The nature of the case will be better understood when it is premised that according to the [illegible] the young man in a season of plenty and stagnation [illegible] festivals are [illegible] the future has [illegible] under the [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr [illegible]smith says I hold a position in a wholesale store at a salary [illegible] per month [illegible] per day and with these remaining [illegible] clothes take my girl to [illegible] the snow compelled me to buy a new [illegible] Maud out sleighing at an expense of $10 or I have always made it a point to buy a girl the handsomest present at Christmas at a small [illegible] about $5 and other little gifts would swell the amount to $50. Two years ago I soaked my watch and chain. It is needless to say it is still soaking. To purchase a seven [illegible] street [illegible] jewelry. We were engaged [illegible] but I was off in two months. She [illegible] and smiles as blandly as though the other fellow paid for the brass. Last year I elevated my thumb for a $3 present for a Fourth street charmer [illegible] present [illegible] times and at the present I am at my wits end how to get [illegible] she expects [illegible] believes me to be a bloated bondholder. The present outlook is very discouraging.

Mr J Clancy McVeigh was called upon. My salary is $40 living expenses $[illegible]. Two years ago I presented my girl out of my meagre saving with a present bought at auction for 40 cents and last year I bridged the trouble by telling Lulu that I was called upon to make good my margin on stock and it worked like a charm. She said she loved me and that was all right that when my stocks were sold I could buy her a substitute. The broker sold that stock and I never realized neither did Lulu. The storm is cold my overcoat is pawned, and I was compelled to break with Lulu. I could not take her out sleighing on Sunday so that business is off for a time. So I rest easy for the present but I am short on everything except promises

Mr Samuel Frederick Jones says the young ladies are too smart. The cheap present "racket" is overworked and what I shall do only Heaven knows and the reporter left him weeping tears of anguish

Mr Alexander evidently a shrewd and business-like man says I make it a point to have a quarrel with my Snide about the 1st of December and the understanding is never reached before the 15th of January

Numerous other interviews of the same tenor as the above were had but enough is given to show the nature of the trouble

The interviews developed some very striking facts and they are—That for the milder deceptions of the human race the Portland boys are as politic as a dumb prime minister that they are men of inventive genius and that they are imposed upon and are too modest to kick is apparent from the foregoing interviews. That they are a necessary evil will not be denied and all sympathetic people are called upon to solve the great problem of the day. How to buy a $2 present with 2[illegible] cents of available cash. The one most satisfactorily solving the above by communicating with the Young Men's Protective Union will besides being a benefactor be suitably rewarded with a leather medal

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES.

Mr Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not evaporated with the brandy leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cook government revenue officer at Cincinnati Ohio says in his report that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of [illegible] and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines that there is [illegible] danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

PORTLAND Dec 22 1879

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

[illegible] Street Improvements [illegible] several misstatements of fact [illegible]

[illegible]

W says the street parallel with and between Fourth street and the river, [illegible] one fourth as Fourth street [illegible] When [illegible] under the grading [illegible] miles of street west of Fourth street we found to be [illegible]

One of the most important [illegible] is the estimate of the cost of macadam [illegible] He places the cost of the old macadam [illegible] contract [illegible] price of macadam [illegible] responsible contractors [illegible] cents per lineal foot [illegible] the price at which the only work of the kind in the city is now being done. Thus the increase of cost is [illegible] per cent while the increase in quality will certainly be double or treble as great

It is a sort [illegible] that the wearing or lasting qualities and consequently the cost of street improvements should be in proportion to the amount of business adjacent to any [illegible] in the street is correct but his intimation that this idea has never been entertained by the street committee of the common council whose care extends to such matters is wrong. In framing the new macadam ordinance several months ago the committee considered that subject and wisely determined that another kind of pavement than the Portland macadam would be best for the business streets of the city. I write this without the knowledge or consultation with such committee. Of course "W's" extended calculations and theories about the cost of macadam are generally at variance with the truth as the ratio of 85 cents to $1 55 varies from the ratio of 100 to 125

When W corrects the above cited errors of statement in his letter his flowery argument will be so thin that it will rise up like the foam of free beer and float away like the rose mists of morning. But as W has written such a gentlemanly article in its tenor I will suggest some of the reasons, proven by experience as I believe, which may demand some changes in the manner of macadamizing and improving streets and some of these causes led to the recent change in the macadam ordinance. It will be seen that W has not touched on these. As to the macadam it has consisted of stones more than four times too large to make it serviceable or truly deserving of the name of macadam and has lacked such ingredients as sand, etc, to cause it to cement or "pack." From such defects arise the real faults that can be found with the macadam as laid in this city. These cause the dirt works up between the stones—they being so large—and the macadam gradually sinks. This is most apparent on macadamized streets subject to much traffic such as Washington street and others. At first glance it seems the mud, the inordinate amount of mud on such streets is carried on to them by the wheels of vehicles but the truth is it works up through the macadam and the sinking of the entire mass of macadam proves it

Now in contravention to the clamor for Belgian pavement I suggest the great probability that any person giving the matter such attention as an engineer would will find that well laid Nicolson pavement is better and cheaper for Portland than Belgian pavement or that which commonly though erroneously passes under that name. THE DEATH-RATE OF

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming the average of life being lessened every year without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year especially a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it, and often find too late that a Fever or Lung trouble has set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken a cure would have resulted and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. THE MACADAMIZED ROAD.

Proposition of the Portland and Milwaukie Macadamized Road Co to Sell out to Multnomah County

A short time ago the Portland and Milwaukie Macadamized Road Company made a proposition to sell to the county all their road from the Red House to the White House for the sum of $5000

As a petition had already been presented to the county court for the location of a county road between the points named, the court appointed viewers. The viewers examined the road from Fulton to the White House and recommended that the proposition [illegible] the macadamized [illegible]. This matter is yet [illegible]

Another proposition was made by the same company to sell their road between the Red House and the city for the sum of $5000. The county court appointed viewers who have made the following

REPORT

To the Honorable the County Court of Multnomah [illegible]

[illegible]

We have consulted with Mr [illegible] Stephens and Mr James [illegible] these gentlemen assure us that they would [illegible]

We respectfully [illegible] on the morning of December [illegible] with C W Burrage county surveyor to the Red House and directed the surveyor to commence at the point where the survey ended for the location of a new county road from low water mark in the Willamette river at the ferry landing directly opposite the town of Milwaukie in Clackamas county thence to the macadamized road following [illegible] down to the Red House report of which was submitted to your honorable body December 1[illegible] and to survey from the point at the Red House thence to the city of Portland following the center line of the macadamized road to the southern line on the limits of the city of Portland and as the result of our conclusions and work relocate the county road on the said macadamized road.

We would also recommend that your honorable body accept the written proposition from the Portland and Milwaukie Macadamized Road Company to purchase their road from the intersection of Water street in the city of Portland, to the Red House for the sum of $5000

All of which is most respectfully submitted

JOHN HARLOW,
FRANK DEKUM
H A HOGUE Viewers

Originally the macadamized road between Portland and the White House cost the company in the vicinity of $30,000. It has never proved a paying investment and the company is no doubt anxious to dispose of their interest in and to the road. The proposition is to sell to the county for the sum of $5000—certainly a reasonable figure when the original cost of the road is considered. It is quite probable that the proposition submitted will be accepted

A HINT TO WORKINGMEN.

The honest workingmen of the country, many of whom have large and increasing families to support have been the chief sufferers of the great financial pressure under which we have labored for the last few years. Diminished wages have not been attended by a corresponding diminution in price of every thing which the workingman needs. Rents fuel food and clothing are cheapest but these do not constitute all his necessities. It is sometimes necessary for him to employ a lawyer or a physician yet the fee rates of physicians and lawyers are as high as they were in flush times. Yet cheap medicines are as necessary as cheap rents or fuel. Cheap medicines are not necessarily poor medicines. It must be obvious to every intelligent person that medicines compounded and put up at wholesale can be sold at much lower rates than when retailed from the doctor's pill bags. Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets have completely restored persons who had spent hundreds of dollars in vainly seeking relief from private practitioners, and all at a very slight expenditure

GENTILE AND JEW.

THE SERMON OF REV. DR. BELLOWS AT THE JEWISH TEMPLE EMANU EL, IN NEW YORK.

[From the New York Times.]

It has never probably occurred within the pastoral experience of the Rev Rabbi Gustav Gottheil, of the Temple Emanu El, to see a larger congregation assembled in the magnificent edifice over which he presides than had gathered yesterday afternoon to participate in the Thanksgiving services and listen to a Thanksgiving sermon. There was a special reason for this unusual Thanksgiving day phenomenon, for it had become whispered about that the Rev Dr. Henry W Bellows, one of the most prominent survivors of a group of Unitarian divines that were all graduated at Harvard college some 50 years ago, had accepted an invitation to deliver the Thanksgiving sermon in a Jewish temple. Such an event was believed to be without precedent in the religious world, and there was no little curiosity to see how the celebrated divine would comport himself under the extraordinary circumstances. A short prayer in which Rabbi Gotthell implored the divine blessing upon the venerable representative of a widely different faith who was to address them in memory of the day, and the singing of a hymn completed the preliminary services, and then, at a sign from the rabbi, the Rev. Dr. Bellows advanced to the desk and announced his text—the first verse of the 118th Psalm, reading, "O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good; because his mercy endureth forever" There was, he thought, a suggestive parallel between the history of the Jews and that of the sturdy Pilgrims who instituted the day of thanksgiving that had now become national. To our New England forefathers old England was an Egypt in which they had suffered persecution for conscience sake; the stormy Atlantic was no unfit symbol of the Red Sea, and the savage Indian tribes that lay in wait for them behind rock and tree were the Canaanites of a promised land, to which God had brought them after many wanderings and troubles. The Old Testament was more influential than the New in moulding their lives, their institutions and their internal experience. Like the Hebrews of old, they saw themselves a people under the direct protection of God—a new Israel, destined to conserve his truth in its purity, and to found a nation appointed to worship him with a new zeal and sincerity. Their first college, founded at Cambridge, was for the purpose of educating young men for the ministry of God; the deeper their history was probed, the more suggestively parallel with the story of the foundation of the Jewish nationality was that of the founders of this nation. It ought to be enough to satisfy the most exacting Jew, that the Hebrew scriptures had been more influential in molding the thought of the ages that had followed since they were written than even the New Testament itself, upon which the new faith of modern civilization was based. In one thing, indeed, the Jewish culture outran the modern culture derived from it, and that was in the perfect conception of monotheism which underlay it; a monotheism as suggestively in contrast with the tritheism of Roman Catholic and Protestant theology as it was with the polytheism of the contemporary pagan races. Never had race of men been persecuted more pitilessly, or suffered more magnificently for a principle; never had race borne more patiently with unmerited oppression, or endured ostracism with more heroic immo[illegible].

After pronouncing an elegant encomium on the Jewish race, its contributions to music in Mendelssohn, to literature in Mamonides, and to philosophy in Spinoza, Dr. Bellows passed to a consideration of state religion as opposed to universal toleration. He pointed out the fact that the ancient Jewish polity was based upon the very principle that had rendered them a persecuted and proscribed race in later times—the principle that the state had a right to prescribe the religious opinions and sentiments of its citizens, and to punish as criminal all departures from the faith. They had seen how this principle operated—what woe and suffering it worked to their race—when the political power passed from their hands, and races of another faith proscribed their religious belief. None knew better than they how hot were Roman Catholic fires, how deep Roman Catholic dungeons, how hopeless of escape the oubliettes of the inquisition, how relentless the decrees of the inquisitor. The engine that they themselves founded and wielded had been turned into an instrument for their own oppression and destruction None knew better than they to what lengths fanaticism and the hatreds engendered by it were capable of going. But Dr. Bellows drew the inference from these pictures of religious persecution that toleration was not possible with a race of men believing in the supernatural origin of religious doctrines. Men who held that their theological views were the direct offspring of revelation—a revelation unmodified, unweakened by the human agency through which it was communicated—could not logically look with toleration upon views that they conceived to be nothing less than the blasphemous denial of all that was most sacred in human life. Hence, only under modern culture was toleration compatible with sincerity of thought and purpose; only as men had come to see that there were glimpses of the true in all religious systems, that religion constantly adapts itself to varying grades of culture and social condition, had bigotry given way before a humility that, while adhering nobly to its own views, confessed the fallibility of human thought. It would be a long time, probably, before social ostracism on account of religious differences would be banished, but this must ultimately come. In conclusion, Dr. Bellows thanked the minister and congregation of the Temple Emanu-El for their unprecedented invitation to a minister of a different faith to speak from a Jewish pulpit, and closed with a graceful compliment to Rabbi Gotthell.

BAND TOURNAMENT.

The following communication, sent THE OREGONIAN with a request to publish, explains itself:

EUGENE CITY, Dec. 22, 1879.

E. M. Waite, Esq. Secretary O. S. A. S., Salem, Ogn.: DEAR SIR—A suggestion made in a recent number of the Salem Statesman, to the effect that the managers of the O. S. A. Society would undoubtedly offer premiums for a band tournament at the next State Fair, has induced me to inquire what in your opinion, is the sentiment of the board of managers on this question. That a band tournament would be very popular with the bands of Oregon and the adjoining territories there can be no doubt, and I am equally assured would meet with much favor from the public at large,—and as it is the desire of yourself and others so prominently connected with the affairs of the society to make the next fair one of the best ever yet held, in my humble opinion, eight or ten bands playing on the grounds at intervals would add much to the interest and the display to be made there on the next Fourth of July, and I think would tend in a great measure to increase the finances of the society. As you intend to have a grand procession, etc., on the Fourth of July, you are well aware that a number of good bands would assist very much in making this particular part of the day's exercises attractive and lively.

Then again it would draw most all the bands in the state and territories to the fair grounds, thereby preventing any celebrations taking place in their respective towns, and where the music goes the people generally follow.

It has been suggested that the bands should organize a tournament for the coming fair; this in my opinion would be difficult to do, as we are far apart and perhaps could not agree on any definite plan even if we should call a meeting for that purpose.

I am of the opinion that it will be best for the managers of the O. S. A. Society to offer premiums in precisely the same manner as for other exhibits, with competent persons to act as judges; restrict the bands to bona fide members and the payment of an entrance fee.

The larger the premiums the better. No doubt the people of Salem would contribute liberally towards this as well as the many music dealers of Oregon. D. W. Prentice & Co, of Portland, offered a nice silver plated cornet last year, and would undoubtedly do as much this year.

Hoping you can so arrange it as to give the bands of Oregon and the territories a chance of trying their skill, and that you will give an answer through THE OREGONIAN at your earliest convenience. Yours respectfully,

J. H. BROWN,
Leader University C. Band.

WHERE THERE IS A WEAKNESS OF THE THROAT OR LUNGS, a Cold neglected may be all that is required to establish a lingering and generally fatal disease. Even where there is no special tendency to bronchial or Pulmonary trouble, a severe Cold, left to take care of itself, often plants the seeds of a serious complaint sure to be developed by subsequent indiscretions.—Take especial care of your health, therefore, from the very earliest symptoms of a Cough or Cold, by prudently resorting to Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, which will sooth and strengthen the bronchial tubes, allay inflammation, and cleanse them and the lungs of all irritating substances. An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure. Sold by Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Oregon.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished Scientist once said: "No man with a strong, healthy stomach ever committed suicide, yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia, when a single bottle of DR. MINTIE'S ENGLISH DANDELION LIVER AND DYSPEPSIA PILLS will give relief, and, if persisted in, cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver, biliousness, sallow complexion foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in side and back, removes pimples from the face, regulates the bowels, is sugar-coated and guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver; is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations; genuine has cut of lion on outside wrapper. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

How to Save Money.

Instead of going to a doctor, if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick-dust deposit, or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of DR. MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM, the great Buchu Compound. It is the best prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Abrams & Carroll, Wholesale Druggists, say: "We regard Nephreticum as the best Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the market." Woodward, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Childs, druggist, Portland, says: "Sold lots of it; it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors gave them up. Sold by all druggists. Price $1 25. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Wholesale Agents

Sir Astley Cooper's Vital Restorative. The great English remedy—has made more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency, and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses, than all other medicines combined.

It is not a stimulant nor excitant, is perfectly safe to take, is not a quack nostrum, and produces results that are wonderful.

Price, $3 a bottle. Four times the quantity, $10. Buy a bottle. It will not disappoint you. Hodge, Davis & Co., wholesale agents.

DR. PAUL R. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHŒA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Disease, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.
